Hoping to get involved in love and education to Syrian refugees.

2015

Outreach In California Schools

In May 2015 we passed out 60 purity bracelets in a high school of about 140 students. A few students took them because it became popular, but most students are wearing them as a testimony to their commitment to "wait till marriage". Their bracelets read "I'm worth waiting for".

Later in 2015 WOW organized a volleyball team for disadvantaged teens, who had never played sports. Here we are playing our first game against another high school and we got a 2 digit score even though we didn't win. We had fun! Relationships have continued with the girls beyond the game.

At the end of the year gifts of clothing or food were given to 50 disadvantaged teens.

In 2016 we moved to give out love and gifts in elementary schools.
